FOCUS ON FARMING · STEP 2

Where does your farm's information live?

AGENT FOR FARMERS

Tick every place your farm's information sits today, and note what's there or who holds it. Most people are surprised how long the list gets. This list is exactly what you point your AI assistant at.

	Where	What's there, or who holds it
☐	Paper The diary by the back door, files and folders, the pile on the kitchen table
☐	Your email Letters, certificates and statements that arrive as attachments
☐	Dropbox, OneDrive or similar Anything you or your family save online
☐	Folders on your computer Spreadsheets, scanned documents, old records
☐	Photos on your phone Delivery notes, receipts, labels, pictures of jobs done
☐	Farm software Herd, flock or crop records, accounts, the parlour or shed controller
☐	Government websites Anything you log in to for payments, schemes, movements or permits
☐	Buyer and assurance websites The milk buyer's app, the integrator's portal, the assurance scheme
☐	The vet Health plans, test results, medicine records
☐	Other advisers The agronomist, the land agent, the accountant
☐	In your head The things only you know: dates, arrangements, how jobs are done
☐	Anywhere else

Next: keep this list by the computer. When you're ready, ask about becoming a pilot farm at agentforfarmers.co.uk/contact or ring Stanley on 07507 772620. Agent for Farmers is open to pilot farms only, free while you're on the pilot.

© 2026 Stanley Young · Agent for Farmers